Member Piggott expressed that this is all positive but the members should already be abiding by these ethics.

Member Barghahn inquired why we wouldn't just relook at what we have. Member Himmelspace explained that we will relook at the current ethics but also take the opportunity to pause, review the others and decide over the course of upcoming meetings as a board what should be included.

The Task Force has been developed and includes representatives of stakeholder groups including board members, teaching staff, support staff, parents, administration, students, counselors, social workers, Oakland Schools and the courts. The first meeting is Tuesday, April 24 and the Committee will review the prior meetings, what we are currently doing to address bullying, identify anti-bullying techniques and best practices, and develop the first steps and a schedule of meetings.

Member Barghahn expressed appreciation for the opportunity to have this discussion and to those serving on the Task Force. She also expressed the importance of outreach and suggested a survey beyond the committee to students and teachers.
